RUBE STILL HAS NUMBER OF THE MEMPHIS CHICKS

Tribe Held Scoreless by Hank Robinson in Opener, Boosting the Travelers Into the League Leadership.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Sept. 8.—
The Chicks, of Memphis, are the bat little stepping stones in the league. The Travelers have been trying for the past several weeks to regain their former berth at the top of the column among Southern league teams, but not until Jack Lewis brought his Tribe over here did the locals manage to get back on top.

did the locals manage to get back on top.
In the opener of the series, played Tuesday, Rube Robinson, the Nemesls of the Chicks, turned back the Memphians without a run. Although Hank was hit for eight hazfeles, he only allowed the wallops when they would do no damage. He was the whole works at all stages, and was never in any danger.

WIN IT IN FIRST.

The Travelers wasted no time in winning the game. George Distel, the first Traveler to face Oscar Tuero, the Cuban hight-hander of the Chicks, scored, and this run was sufficient to win the game. Tuero walked Distel, and his mates following him provided the necessary transportation over the platter.

platter.

But the Litle Rockers didn't stop at one run. They got three in the first inning, another cluster of three in the third, and one more in the fourth. With seven runs in front and Rube Robinson pitching, they laid aside their bats and rested their bating orbs for another day, when they may need them more.

Manager Jack Lewis, of the Chicks, got out of the game in the third, and let George Bischoff go to right, with Blades supplanting Lewis on second.

Every Traveler except Tony Brottem crashed the ball, with Harper, the league's leading hitter, getting three. Bing Miller got a pair.

John Frierson, an ex-Traveler, fat-tened up off Rube, and got three blows off the Searcy southpaw, despite the fact that southpaw batters are not sup-posed to hit southpaw pitching. But Frierson's mates couldn't follow his ex-ample.

Dixie Carroll, as usual, poled one, and grabbed everything that came his way in the gardens.

Polly McLarry, Chick doorman, had a nice day with the willow, and got two singles off the Ruber Polly is also a left-sided swatter, but he managed to connect just the same.

Distel got under one of Tuero's fast ones inside, in the fourth, and boosted it so far that he had completed the dircuit before Frierson could retrieve it.

In the sixth Carroll beat out a bunt and McLarry singled to left with none gone. This looked rosy. But Bob Dowie tossed a wet blanket on the proceedings by hitting into a double Frierson made a fine catch of Bing filler's drive to left center that cheat-d Bing out of an extra-base wallop.

It was 45 minutes after 4 o'clock when the game started, owing to a heavy downpour. And after the game started another shower took place—a shower of base hits given in honor of Senor Oscar Tuero, of Memphis. A nice time was had by all—of the Trav-eiers.

The Travelers went back into the lead when the Atlanta Crackers obligingly beat the New Orleans Pelicans, who were sharing top piace with the Little Rockers before Tuesday's games were playing.

The final game of the series will be layed Wednesday providing it doesn't

TRAVELERS FAVORED.

TRAVELERS FAVORED.

The curtain is fast drawing to a close, and the flag hunt is to be decided within the next week.

The Southern league schedule favors the Little Rock Travelers, who are billed to meet Chattanooga, Nashville and Memphis the rest of the year, and the Travelers should breeze in without exerting themselves.

Little Rock has a team of sluggers and an array of good pitchers, and as they are meeting the three worst clubs in the league, they should have easy sailing.

If the Travelers cop the 1926 flag they will meet the pennant winners in the Texas league, according to Bob Allen, president of the Little Rock club.

Allen, president of the Little Rock club.

Allen states that his club will play the series in spite of the Southern league directors, who have voted against the proposed series. Allen proposes to over-ride the league directors and do what he pleases.

It is not surprising that Allen should take this stand, for he has shown ever since he has been in the league that he has no regard for authority or for the bylaws and constitution of the league, doing what he pleases despite the wishes of the remaining seven club owners in the league.

Allen is going to keep on until he finds himself and his club out in the cold, when he will wake up and see how much it profits a man to try to take the buil by the horns and operate on a rule-or-ruin platform.

THE SALE OF SEWELL.

n a rule-or-ruin platform.

Johnny Doblis, manager of the New Orleans Pelicans, has been obliged to et Joe Sewell, his brilliant young short-stop, go to the Cleveland Indians, and yong with Sewell in all hielihood, went the pennant hopes of the Crescent Citians.

Jules, Heinemann, president of the New Orleans club, is the big noise in the team, and it was he who comnieted the deal that removed from the Pels one of their main cogs. Winning a pennant is notling new for the Pels, and with a good stiff price available it was only natural that Heine would bet Joe go to the Indians.

The Cleveland club has been hard the ever since the tragic and untimery death of Ray Chapman to find a chortstop to fill the shoes of the shortstop to fill the shoes of the departed star. Harry Lunte, an exSouthern leaguer, formerly with Mobile, has been tried out, but found wapting. Sewell was the man Manager Tris Speaker wanted, and prohabily realized that with a capable shortstop, the Indians would have a much better chance to win this season's pennant.

Sos Cleveland made New Orleans a fat offer, and as the Cleveland club always has the inside track on everything pertaining to the Pels, it was only natural that the Pelican officials would come to the aid of the Indians in their time of dire need, despite the fact that the Pels needed Sowel fully as much as did the Indians.

Fandom all over the country is pull ing for the Indians to come through and win this season's flag, due to the fact that Speaker lost one of his mest brilliant stars when Chapman was

ABOUT KNOXVILLE.

ABOUT KNOXVILLE.

Knoxville is knocking at the door of the Southern Association of Baseball clubs for admittance, and it is understood that during the winter the proposition and what the Knoxvillans have to offer will be gone into thoroughly by Southern league directors.

Knoxville, has the population and would be suited for a berth in the league, but for one reason—they are against Sunday baseball.

There is no state law against Sunday bail, but Knoxville's mayor refuses to stand for the game being played there on Sunday. If this preposition could be straightened out, then Knoxville's chances to got in the league would be much enhanced.

would be much enhanced.

A fan drops a note in the morning mail to criticize the playing of Manager Jack Lewis, of the Chicks, who is covering the middle bag for the Tribe, and who, in the past pair of weeks, has made several errors.

The truth in the matter is that Lewis shouldn't be in the game at all. His right arm, which was broken early this season, still pains him considerably, and be finds it almost an impossibility to field with the same ability that made him the leading middleman in the league before his accident.

And then Jack is up against it when he attempts to bat, for every time he hits the ball hard, it means that the arm that was broken and which is knitting, is hurt. Those who have had broken arms will appreciate the handicap under which Lewis is laboring.

These few facits are presented merely to set those right in regard to the Chick manager, who is out there in an effort to be of service and who is doing well considering the handicap under which he lis laboring.

JACK'S VICTORY.

The quick knockout victory of Jack Dempsey over Billy Miske in Benton Harbor. Mich. Labor day, did not come as a surprise to those who have kept close tab on the heavyweight champion, and who relized that he would easily conquer the challenger. Dempsey has proved that he is the hardest hitter the heavyweight contingent has offered in a long time. He possesses all the cleverness and class of Jim Jeffries and Bob Fizzsimmons, compled with a terrife wallop that leaves death and destruction in its wake.
